Bahá'í: The New Vision

An exploration
of the central principles and teachings of the Bahá'í
faith.

Lisa Janti

Lisa Janti presents a fascinating picture of this emergent Faith that is captivating minds and hearts all over the planet. Artist, educator, and community leader, Lisa has an illustrious background of public service, receiving the highest commendation from the City of Los Angeles for her contribution to the welfare of that community. She served for many years as a member of the Executive Staff of former Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, and as Chairperson of the Spiritual Assembly of the Bahá'ís of Los Angeles. She is presently a resident writer and Program Director at the Desert Rose Bahá'í Institute in Arizona.

Though it is the second most widespread religion on earth, the Baha'i Faith is still relatively unknown by the general public. Baha'i: The New Vision explores in a very accessible way, some of its central teachings, correlating the Baha'i Writings to current world conditions and other relevant sources of thought and belief.
